Dear Madam,

I write this letter to inform you about the two issues in this house I'm deeply concerned about, namely the inappropriateness of people smoking indiscriminately in this house and the use of the back of my apartment's window for smoking or any other repetitive activity.

To begin with, smoking cigarettes is legal and selling them too. However, there are laws governing these activities as well. Since there is a bar in this house, it's not wrong for someone to smoke in the bar. What the law frowns upon is indiscriminate smoking. If it has not yet come to your attention, lately, your son and some people gather to smoke outside the bar, mostly at where the reservoir for pipe-borne water is located. This must not be the case. I have thoroughly made legal consultations and considerations and have confirmed the illegitimacy and illegality of such an act. In a rented house with a bar, smoking must be confined to the bar. Failure to abide by that law has legal consequences - in fact it is prosecutable and jailable, and especially more damning because there is a minor in the house - your son 'Paapa'.

The final thing is that I do not want the back of my window to be utilized for any repetitive activity. The nature of my job requires a serene atmosphere for logical reasoning. Of course people can walk past the back of that window. Yet, it should not become a sitting place for anyone more importantly because the activities that take place there disturbs my peace and/or can have grave consequences on my health.

I thereby send this letter to you so that you address the issue today because I am no longer going to be tolerable to the aforementioned improprieties. Need I ensure legal consequences, I would gladly do so. Everyone's freedom ends where someone else's nose is.

I hope to see the change effected today. Thank you!

Yours faithfully,
